1. Antiques dealer Anna Willcox from England's Guinevere Antiques discovered this intriguing pair of Anglo-Celanesque Regency-style ebony foot stools, circa 1930, with delicately articulated canework seats. guinevere.co.uk

2. Just as there's that perfect black dress, so too is there that perfect little side table. This one made of solid beech embodies the Art Deco style typical of India—though it's new and made by Howe London. howelondon.com

3. The Olson mirror from the Scandy collection of Chairish is handmade by artist Melissa A. Cromwell, in brown stoneware with a decided pop of white glaze. The piece hangs from a leather loop. chairish.com

4. Sometimes we go fishing and actually catch something wonderful, such as these works by New Orleans-based artist Elaine Gleason. The works, available at Duh Pensacola, are called Angler: Fly Fish (top) and Angler: Fan Fish. duhpensacola.com

5. The Boffi Antibes walk-in closet is composed of functional modules with high-tech supporting frames and hinged or sliding doors. Shelves and cabinets incorporate novel lighting solutions. boffiusa.com

6. The hand-cut, mouth-blown Vivien square-footed vase from William Yeoward Crystal replicates similar Georgian-era pieces. The piece can be used either as a vase or a hurricane. williamyeowardcrystal.com

7. The original Santa Barbara Umbrella has a well-earned reputation for superior shade protection, shown here in Regatta White Cap on a solid teak frame with a teak hub and a marine-grade pulley. santabarbaradesigns.com

8. Among the best ways to personalize your home is to use Jenny Johnson Allen Custom Linens. The Kentucky-born, Atlanta-based namesake lets clients choose everything from fonts and letterings to border motifs. jennyjohnsonallen.com

9. The distinctive Oculus chandelier was created by the Atlanta-based designer Beth Webb for Arteriors. This is one of the many items in her inaugural lighting, accessories, and accent furniture collection. arteriorshome.com

10. The design of this Clarence House fabric, Tetto, in Grigio (color), was inspired by the Italian hilltop town of Todi. While visiting there, Frank Portiero kept looking up to the underside of chestnut timber roof tiles, a pattern now translated into fabric. clarencehouse.com

11. Artist, designer, and founder Nick Davis, of Charles Burnard produces bronze furniture, sculpture, and products combining design and function with an emotive edge, this from his Fragmentation series. charlesburnard.com
